NEWPORT NEWS, VA., June 18.—The United States Supreme Court probably will have to settle the differences existing between the Newport News and old Point Railway and Electric Company and the Hampton Roads Electric Company and the Hampton Roads Electric Railway Company in regard to the Mellen Street franchise, in Phoebus. Some time ago the first named company secured an injunction restraining the Hempton Roads Company from building a track on Mellen Street, contending that it had secured the right to double track the thoroughfare before the incorporation of Phoebus as a fown.

The injunction was dismissed by Judge Blackstone in the Circuit Court, and the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision.

It is amounced that the Newport News and Old Point Company now will appeal the case to the United States Supreme Court. Bears the Bignature Charff Flitching
